

Round 11

30th November 2014

Cadets

DAYTONA

MANCHESTER

Inkart Championship 2014

Heat 1

Logan Parker was on a mission in race 1, jumping straight past Alex Bomberg off the start and then making his way past Michael Burrows later in the lap to take the lead. Philip Berry made a good start and got ahead of Alex Bomberg into the tunnel, unfortunately for Bomberg, he couldn't get back onto the racing line and Alex Whipday also made it through. Michael, still chasing Logan trying to make an overtake, looks to be faster, but Logan - not letting Michael get to him, holds a good, slightly defensive line to take the race win.

Heat 2

Jenson Turnbull, on his return to Daytona and his first round of Inkart, opted to start from the back of the grid while he got up to speed. All drivers held position off the start. Andres was the first driver to make an overtake, passing Nathan Smith into the tunnel. Alex Bomberg had a go up the inside of Thomas Oxley at turn 1, but made contact with Thomas - Thomas spun across the front of Alex's kart, but a quick recovery meant he held his position, so no black flag was awarded. Andres closed Alex Whipday towards the end of the race but was too far back to try and overtake. Alex took the race win followed by Andres then Nathan Smith.

Heat 3

Heat 3 saw a lot of contact in the opening lap. Eric Su made an overtake stick on Philip Berry for 2nd, while Logan managed to hold his P1 grid spot. Michael Burrows and Nathan Smith both managed to pass the less experienced Jonathon and Jenson, to put themselves into 4th and 5th. Logan put in a faultless race to take the heat win, ahead of Eric Su and Phil Berry.

Heat 4

Andres on pole for heat 4 made a small mistake into turn 1, forcing him to go defensive into turn 2. Alex Bomberg got the cutback and took the race lead, with Thomas and Logan also managing to pass Jacob off the starting line, before

Logan got the inside line into turn 1 to pass Thomas going into lap 2. Phil looked to be struggling for pace, as Alex Whipday, Logan and Thomas were all close behind him, looking to a way through. At the front, Andres continues to chase Alex Bomberg for 1st. A nervous moment for Alex, as the approach backmarker Jacob. Jacob does the right thing and pulls out of the way around turn 1 to let them through. Alex holds on for the win ahead of Andres and Phil.

Heat 5

Andres makes a good start from 7th to pass Jonathon and Jenson, he then goes on to pass Jacob on lap 2, getting himself into 4th. Michael Burrows hassled Thomas for the race lead, but not close enough to try an overtake. Andres now on the back of Nathan Smith, but makes a mistake into hairpin 4 and loses some time. Andres gets his head down and catches Nathan, again managing to get the cutback and inside line into the tunnel to make it stick. Thomas just holds on, to take the win with Michael alongside him over the line.

Heat 6

An unfortunate start for Jacob saw him get pushed out wide, causing him to lose control and spin before the bridge. Eric Su holds the race lead ahead of Thomas and Michael, Alex Whipday going for the inside line on Alex Bomberg into the tunnel, but the door is closed and he backs out, allowing Logan to pass. Eric Su takes a very strong race win, with Thomas and Michael having another great battle right to the line. Thomas again just holds on to take 2nd place.

Heat 7

Andres again makes a good start straight up into 2nd place, passing Nathan. Both drivers then pass Jonathon Yates into the downramp hairpin, moving them up into 1st and 2nd. Jonathon was thrown off a bit by this move, and loses 2 more places to Eric and Alex Bomberg dropping him down into 5th. Nathan looks to be struggling to keep with Andres' pace and drops back towards Eric, who pulls off a very nice overtake around the top of the circuit to take 2nd. Into the final lap Andres has a good lead. Eric finishes 2nd, and Alex Bomberg makes an overtake on Nathan to claim 3rd position.

The Finals

The B-Final got off to an eventful start, with Phil Berry trying to defend his position by moving across the circuit. He cuts across the front of Nathan Smith and spins himself down to last. Alex Whipday made a very good start, and pulled away instantly.

Due to the dramatic start, all drivers were very spread out, leaving Alex to take the race win ahead of Nathan Smith and Jonathon Yates.

The A-Final start saw Logan tucking right in behind Andres and looking for an early overtake. Thomas loses a position to Michael Burrows in the opening lap with Andres pulling away in the lead of the race. Eric now right behind Logan and trying to find a way past. Michael now in 4th, sets fastest lap of the race while chasing down Eric and Logan. Michael puts in a new lap record and joins the battle - there is nothing between the 3 drivers as we approach the end of the race. Michael gets alongside Eric into the final corners, moving the barriers out of his path. Eric forces Michael wide and manages to keep the position. This brings Thomas into the battle as we go into the final lap. Andres take a dominant race win ahead of Logan Parker, with Eric just holding on to take 3rd position.
